Josephine Halvorson will share the experience of her recent Fulbright Fellowship to Vienna. Ms. Halvorson will also discuss her still-life paintings and how her unique treatment of objects and environments within this traditional form “bridges the border between the cognitive and the aesthetic.” Further, she will speak about her disruptions of conventional painting categories by “pairing an old or dead object with something new or alive.”

In conjunction with her lunch talk, please join us the same evening for the opening of an exhibition of the work that she completed as a Fulbright Fellow. It will take place from 6 to 8pm in the Humanities Gallery on the first floor of the Engineering Building.

Please note that an information session about how to apply for a Fulbright Fellowship will be held simultaneously at 6pm in the Wollman Auditorium, 21E.
